wife, victims of a mysterious tragedy at their home near Angleton, Texas, will take place Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Stanley & Mc-Cune chapel, the services being con-ducted by the Rev. J. W. Abel, pas-ter of the First Methodist church Burial will be at Rose Hill ceme-

Accompanying the bodies which arrived in Tules Friday morning were Guy P. Stater of Tules, E. R. Slater and Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Wal-eon of Wichita Falls, Tex. and H. R. Blater and wife of Ossawatomie Kan. A brother who lives in Call fornia could not reach Tulsa in time for the funeral.

Were Coming Here. Were Coming Here.
C. F. Slater came to Tulsa 12 years ago from Pennsylvania and prior to his removal to Texas he was prominent as an oil operator in the Oklahoma field. He was 63 years old and his wife was 64. Mr. Slater had been in ill health for several years laid out their clothes and engaged a negro to take their baggage to the railroad station.

When they did not meet their appointment with their attorney having the transfer of the farm in hand an investigation was made, resulting in the body of Mrs. Slater being found in the kitchen with her head crushed by blow from a hammer, and the hy blows from a hammer, and the husband's body lifeless in the bed-room, with an empty shotgun by its side.

The fact that the door of the bedroom was locked and the gun was the property of Slater led to an in-quest verdict of homicide and sui-cide. These causes are stated in the cide. These causes are stated in the death certificate accompanying the bodies, which now lie at the morgue of the local undertakers.

No found to Wounds,

A strange circumstance which seems to refute the theory that state killed himself and adds mystery to the traxedy is that the body shows no gunshot or bullet wound. There is a contusion of the breast such as might be inflicted by a high from a heavy scantling, several ribe being broken. The wound is such as might have been made if an automo-
